

Ember Mirror

The Ember Mirror's name comes from the torched cedar that forms its hexagonal shape, giving the piece a unique iridescent sheen—similar to the spent end of a burnt match. The two sides of the mirror are gently curved, contrasting with its angular architectural frame.

Inspired by the urban waterfront, the mirror shows the wild abutting the manmade and geometric meeting organic.

- Part of the Helm Collection
- Shown in torched Cedar.
- Hand applied oil finish.
- Available in a variety of American hardwoods.

Standard Proportions:
24”L x 18”W x 2”D